The President addressed the Senate upon taking his chair as follows:

Hon. Chief Justice Kimball:

Members of the Senate:

I am deeply appreciative of the honor conferred upon me, and hope at the end of the session you will not have decided that your choice was wrong.

You face heavier responsibilities than those upon any previous session. Naturally you will do all possible to assist the National Government in winning our wars; this can be done without needlessly surrendering sovereign rights of this State.

In the last session, two records were established. We finished our work within the forty-day period, and there was no bill jam at the end. The record of which we are even prouder, is that no bill was passed or issue decided on a political party, partisan vote. I hope we may improve on the first of the two records, and equal the second.

It is a real job to carry on after Earl Wright, the retiring president of the last session. I know that if there are insufficiencies in my work your cooperation will cover them up.

Thank you.

Mr. President then informed the Senate that motions would be in order for nomination for Vice-President.

The Honorable Chief Justice Kimball then administered the oath, after which Mr. President presented the Honorable George A. Cross to the Senate. The Vice-President addressed the Senate as follows:

Mr. Chief Justice, Mr. President and members of the Senate:

You can't imagine how much I appreciate being placed in this office. I feel it's about as high an honor as any cow-puncher could ever reach, and I hope that I can carry on the work of this office satisfactorily. I think it will be rather light, with a President such as we have in this session, but I stand ready to help any and all of you members at all times, and I want to thank all of you for this honor that you have conferred upon me.

W. A. NORRIS.

Mr. Zoble moved that the report of the Committee on Arrangements be adopted, and the Committee discharged. The motion prevailed.

Speaker Luman presented His Excellency, the Governor, to the members of the Joint Session, and the Governor delivered the following message to the assembly:

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

THE TWENTY-SEVENTH STATE LEGISLATURE

Mr. President of the Senate, Mr. Speaker of the House,
Gentlemen of the 27th Wyoming State Legislature:

In compliance with the mandate of our state constitution, and in accordance with the custom of all free people, we meet today to begin the consideration of problems affecting the welfare of Wyoming and the well-being of its citizens, and we behold a strange spectacle, a complex phenomenon, for millions of men and machines are busily engaged in perfecting the science of destruction and other millions of men and machines are busily engaged in the practice of destruction. The United States of America is playing a major part in this global war. It is our war. It is Wyoming's war, and the vast changes that have taken place since you assembled here two years ago will probably pale into invisibility beside the upheavals of the next two years.

It is therefore our patriotic duty to leave no act undone that will assist our Commander-in-Chief, our Army and our Navy, in every possible way to bring about a rapid and successful conclusion of this war. To this proposition we, the people of Wyoming, acting through you, the duly elected representatives dedicate ourselves.

Not as partisans do we meet, but as the delegated spokesmen of all the people. They expect us to meet the great emergency of the day and to perform the tasks that are allotted to us with a view only to their welfare. And in welcoming the members of this Legislature, I do so with every confidence in the success of our common efforts. It is with a deep sense of gratitude that I take this opportunity to express my appreciation of the many assurances of cooperation I have received from the members of this distinguished body, and I want, here and now, to pledge my undivided energies to the service of all of our people.

It is easy to comprehend the grave responsibilities of this assembly. And what I have to offer in the way of counsel or suggestions is not submitted in the light of any superior knowledge, but is the result of personal experience while serving in two sessions of this body, and close observation of our state government for the past eight years as your Secretary of State. It is my hope that the most cordial relations may be established between yourselves and my office and that you will feel free, and I invite you, to call upon me or any other department of state government at any time for any advice or information that may assist you in your deliberations.

May I compliment you and thank you in behalf of the State of Wyoming for your services in this body, which, especially this session, are a great sacrifice on your part. The labor shortage, notably on our farms and ranches, makes it most difficult for you to leave your usual vocations and I know you are anxious to return to your homes at the earliest possible date. While our Constitution sets the maximum time for duration of a session of the Legislature at forty days, it does not designate a minimum number of days and there is no legal reason, should your deliberations be concluded prior to the forty days, that you should not adjourn.

In an effort to expedite your work, I have requested all state departments which have bills to present for your consideration to have them prepared and ready to be introduced immediately and I further urge that certain rules and precedents which have governed this body in the past be streamlined to meet the present emergency. It is noticeable that little is accomplished during the early days of the ordinary session, and for a very good reason . . . committees cannot consider bills until they have been referred to them. It might be well to reduce the period for the introduction of bills. Members having in mind the introduction of bills should make it their first order of business to get these bills before you at the earliest possible date. A further suggestion has to do with the reduction in the number of committees. The last House of Representatives was made up of twenty-four committees and a study reveals that these committees could be consolidated into approximately fifteen and even then some committees would be handling related matters. With a decided reduction in the number of committees it would greatly lessen conflicting committee meetings. These suggestions are offered to assist in conserving time and making possible, if you so desire, an early adjournment of this body.

STATE FINANCES

Because of business dislocations, because of the unusual trends of taxation, because of the unpredictable anticipated revenue, the financial position of your state government as of today may vary greatly in the immediate future.

Wyoming has a current bonded indebtedness of $3,528,500, which is being liquidated in an orderly manner and none of which is delinquent. There is at this writing approximately $1,614,000 in the general fund. Because of the emergency of the day and uncertain economic conditions it is recommended that this fund for the ensuing two years not be reduced below three-quarters of a million dollars, it having stood at that sum or a greater amount since 1937. At this time your state finances are in excellent condition and it is our joint responsibility to maintain this situation.

The State Treasurer is charged with approximately $34,000,000 in all of the various funds, and I want to direct your attention and study to the largest of these, the common school permanent land fund which has now reached the tremendous sum of $22,000,000 and is increasing at the rate of $600,000 each biennium. This fund was authorized by the Act of Admission and made a part of the state Constitution, which provided that certain income from state lands should accrue to this fund and only the income from the invested fund could be expended. From reading the constitutional debates and the discussion of costs of state government, it can safely be said that our state Constitutional Convention did not anticipate that this fund would ever reach the present figure.

A portion of this fund is deposited with various banks over the state, some of the banks paying no interest and others paying one-half of one per cent. We are pleased to have the banks accept this money for they provide us with government bonds as security. A sizeable amount is invested in government bonds for which we have paid the market price. A portion of these funds is invested in drainage and irrigation bonds in the Big Horn Basin and a considerable amount in farm loans. Practically all high-yielding city, county, and school district bonds owned by the state have been refunded in the last few years with greatly reduced interest rates thereon.

Since this fund is now so large, and since it is impossible to invest it in its entirety at a good rate of interest, sound business judgment directs that this fund be pegged at its present level and that the current income accruing to this fund be returned to the school districts either on a per teacher or per pupil basis or turned to the school equalization fund as you think best. If legally possible, the return of this current income to the school districts should be in the nature of a replacement income to the end that present school district taxes may be reduced a like amount. With taxation today at an all-time high, and knowing full well that taxes tomorrow will be even greater than today, I urge your very careful consideration of this suggestion.

REVENUE

Estimating the state's revenue for the ensuing two-year period is difficult for the reason that it is impossible to foresee business conditions for any length of time in advance. The loss in revenue due to the elimination of the mill levy for state purposes will approximate $1,056,000 in the ensuing biennium.

Sales tax collections for the last six months of 1942 showed a decrease of $136,000 as compared with the last six months of 1941, or approximately ten per cent decrease. There was a decrease of four hundred sales tax licenses, or businesses closed out, between June and December of 1942 and we have every reason to expect this number to increase. We, therefore, expect $700,000 less sales tax collections in the ensuing biennium.

Liquor Commission earnings from which net profits have accrued in the last two years to the extent of $1,478,000 will in all probability greatly decrease for the balance of the duration of the war. Liquor earnings for the last six months of 1942 were unusually high for the reason that all retailers were building up their reserve stocks expecting a liquor shortage which is now upon us. Liquor now is not available at all in Alaska. It is being rationed to the consumer in some of the Pacific states, and the Wyoming Liquor Commission is now rationing to the retailer. It is anticipated that distillers will allocate to Wyoming not over sixty per cent of the amount of liquor in 1943 that was purchased by the Commission in 1941, and all signs point now to an orderly liquidation of distillery stocks. Distilling of liquor for beverage purposes as of October 8th, 1942, has been discontinued. We must, therefore, look forward to a forty per cent reduction in earnings of the Liquor Commission for the ensuing two years, or $600,000. We expect revenues accruing to the state to show a total reduction of approximately $2,300,000 in the next biennium as compared with 1941-1943.

The only other income of any consequence will vary little from previous years. The total anticipated income available for appropriation for usual state purposes for the ensuing biennium will approximate $5,-438,000 as compared with $7,500,000 appropriated for the 1941-1943 biennium.

Since you are charged with the responsibility of creating revenue, since you are the only branch of state government that can levy taxes, and since you have full control over appropriations, it seems consistent for me to request that your appropriations should not be in excess of the anticipated revenue. If your appropriations are in excess of expected income, then some action should be taken with reference to the mill levy on property for state revenue. By legislative action a minimum mill levy could be established. The maximum mill levy is set in our State Constitution at four mills.

STATE OF WYOMING FISCAL PROCEDURE

It would seem proper at this time to direct your attention to the fact that the state of Wyoming is operating a complex governmental structure, dispersing some fourteen to sixteen million dollars annually, with a bookkeeping system blueprinted in the early nineties when annual expenditures approximated $150,000. This bookkeeping system has been complicated by the growth of independent and semi-independent record keeping and fund control. At the present time it is exceedingly difficult for a state official or any citizen to get an indisputable statement of the financial condition and the cost of state government in Wyoming.

Most states have long ago established modern, centralized accounting methods. It is suggested that this Legislature empower elective officers to establish a coordinated, centralized accounting system for the state of Wyoming which will be comprehensive enough that the fiscal operations of all agencies of the state should flow through a central accounting office. This office should have modern accounting methods with post-auditing controls left to the State Examiner's office.

Since at the present time not all of the monies expended by the various departments are paid on vouchers through the Auditor's office, I recommend that all departmental checking accounts with the exception of the Liquor Commission and Sales Tax Department be discontinued and all payments of every other nature on the part of the state of Wyoming, be executed on proper vouchers through the Auditor's office.

BUDGETING FOR POLITICAL SUB-DIVISIONS

Approximately ninety-three per cent of each tax dollar is expended by political sub-divisions and in order to promote economy and efficiency in the management of local government in Wyoming a budget act, such as now applies to counties, should be adopted to cover all political sub-divisions, including school districts, cities and towns. Such a budget act should stipulate that no taxing unit may budget or expend in excess of the estimated revenues during the year to which the budget applies.

The State Examiner should be given the duty and authority to enforce this budget act. His office should be directed by proper statutes to prescribe and furnish the forms and records and instructions for the installation of uniform methods of accounting and budgeting respectively for counties, cities, towns, and school districts. Every political sub-division should be required to report quarterly or semi-annually to the State Examiner's office. The form of these reports should be prescribed by the State Examiner's office. The State Examiner should prepare annually a compilation of these reports to make available to the public by publication in local newspapers, and to officials, data relative to the comparative costs of local government among the various units within Wyoming.

THE STATE BUDGET

The state budget has been prepared and will be made available to you in accordance with law on the fourth day of this session. In compliance with the 1941 appropriation act, the State Highway Department and the Game and Fish Commission budgets are included. Since these two departments operate entirely upon their own revenues, and since there is no provision by which any surpluses accruing to these departments can be made available to the general fund, I have, on these two particular budgets, made no recommendations, and I make no suggestion regarding the disposition of surplus monies in these two departments for I believe it is a well-established and fundamentally sound principal that monies accruing to the Highway Department be used in their entirety for the construction and maintenance of highways, and that monies accruing to the Game and Fish Department be likewise used in their entirety by this department for the purpose of propagation and management of our wild life resources. If it is the desire of the Legislature that appropriations for these two departments be made from the general fund, then legislation is needed covering their respective revenues into the general fund.

Requests for appropriations from the general fund by state agencies total $6,685,804. I have recommended reducing in some instances the departmental requests.

In fairness to those departments making increased requests, I wish to direct your attention to the situation which confronts our state government, namely, that because of considerably higher salaries being offered by industry and especially on defense work, we have found it necessary to increase some salaries and still further increases must be made if we expect to retain an efficient personnel.

As an example of these increased costs, the University is asking for an increase of all salaries and this amount alone approximates $132,000. In one of our institutions we were served with an ultimatum that if salary increases were not granted at a certain time, the employees of the institution would leave immediately to accept better positions elsewhere.

Our institutions are also faced with an increase in the cost of food stuffs, materials and some services in an amount of twenty per cent over the last two years. It is my hope that by the practice of strictest economy, by not requesting certain appropriations that have been granted in the past, and by suggesting the combining of certain functions of state government the appropriations will be within our anticipated income.

I respectfully suggest that no special appropriation bills be considered by this body, but all such requests be handed to the Ways and Means Committee that they may be considered at the time, and if the Ways and Means Committee sees fit, included in the General Appropriation Act.

SUGGESTED ECONOMIES

As a means of reducing the personnel of state government, it has been recommended previously, and I urge again, that all tax collection agencies of the state be placed directly under the supervision of the Public Service Commission. This would materially reduce the number of traveling collectors, auditors and field representatives.

To curtail travel by state employees, to conserve rubber and gasoline and reduce travel expenditures, all state cars within the city of Cheyenne should be assigned to the State Board of Supplies and placed in one pool. When any state department wishes the use of a motor vehicle, a requisition to the Secretary of State Board of Supplies should be made setting out the object of the travel and the estimated distance the car would travel. The office of price administration has suggested that state cars curtail their travel by forty per cent and I believe the suggestion of pooling all state cars will assist materially in this suggested mileage reduction.

Eight years' observation of out-of-state travel by officials, appointive officers, and employees convinces me that it could be curbed fifty per cent or even more without in any way injuring the efficiency of your state government. In the last two years I have deemed it necessary only once to travel outside the state at state expense and then only for a short distance, although dozens of opportunities to do so have presented themselves. There should be closer supervision of out-of-state travel and I offer the suggestion for your consideration that except for the five elective officials, all out-of-state travel should only be by and with the permission of the State Board of Supplies.

OFFICE HOURS

During this emergency people in all walks of life are taking on added duties and working longer hours, and I can assure you if you deem it expedient as a gesture of patriotism and cooperation the employees of your state government will do likewise. The average day's work on our farms and ranches by actual study is reported to be approximately twelve hours per day. We in the Capitol Building, work seven hours a day or thirty-eight hours a week, not taking into consideration holidays when the offices are closed. The working day for state employees, as set out in the statutes, is from nine to five. I suggest the hours be from eight to five for the duration.

Until the war ends it would seem advisable to maintain only a skeleton organization of one clerk in the Department of Commerce and Industry. The primary function of this department is to promote tourist travel which at this time is in direct conflict with the war effort. A second or lesser function, to which some attention has been given in the past, is the development of our mineral resources. This is now being handled very effectively and efficiently by technically trained and qualified personnel under the State Geologist.

INSTITUTIONS

To my way of thinking, one of the most important, if not the most important, function of state government is the efficient and sympathetic administration of our ten state institutions. This observation is made because incarcerated in these institutions are some eighteen hundred of our fellow citizens, our friends, our relatives, and members of our families, most of whom are there through no fault of their own, and for further reason that there are 330 employees in these institutions and the cost involved approximates one and a quarter million dollars per biennium.

Our state institutions, with one exception, are functioning smoothly and efficiently but are handicapped by the great turnover in personnel. Institutions have all requested increased budgets for the ensuing two years for reasons previously mentioned. It is interesting, however, and I think your attention should be directed to the fact, that the population of two of these institutions has decreased considerably. The penitentiary population has decreased from 293 in 1940 to 234 in 1942; the industrial institute from 82 to 54.

The number of inmates in the State Hospital at Evanston and the training school at Lander continues to show a slight increase.

The immediate past year having been a year of good crops and good prices, the incomes of the institutions that operate farms have been increased and this has assisted these institutions immeasurably in being able to operate within their budgets. The penitentiary farm has accumulated a surplus of $15,000 and it would seem proper to transfer by appropriation this amount from the prison farm to the penitentiary proper and make a similar reduction in the budget requests of the latter institution.

It is recommended that the law with reference to non-residents being admitted to our tuberculosis sanatorium be changed to permit their entrance when there are vacant beds. Tuberculosis being a communicable disease, it is essential that tubercular non-residents be hospitalized for the benefit of society as well as for their own relief. It is further recommended that patients not be discharged after one year's treatment if they still need hospitalization. It is suggested that county welfare directors discontinue the practice of getting aged people committed to Evanston when their case is simply senile deterioration and that the medical profession and the judges show more discretion with regard to these cases. For the Evanston institution is not an old people's home or a poor farm.

WELFARE AND HEALTH

Reasonable social reforms are with us to stay and it is our duty to make them work. Unfortunately for the individual states, financing of social security programs is set up so that the federal government retains authority over administration. It is impractical in many respects for its rules and regulations make the administration unreasonably costly. Qualifications set up under the so-called Merit System for social workers and employees requiring college degrees and in some categories additional special university training too greatly limit the number of applicants for these positions.

As one means of reducing the cost of public welfare, I suggest that the state be districted, each district comprising several counties for administrative purposes instead of the present twenty-three county boards. It is not necessary to have a welfare set-up in each of our 23 counties.

One of the very practical aspects of public welfare is the school lunch program. This free lunch afforded to children of needy families has been a great factor in helping the under-privileged child through school. It builds up a resistance against ordinary colds and other infectious diseases and makes of him a more alert, brighter, more easily disciplined student. This is one of the finest humanitarian programs ever initiated, and it is hoped that this program can be maintained, although the support of W. P. A., which is supplying 52 cooks and various other services connected with the program, will be withdrawn the twenty-fifth of this month.

When our present Public Welfare act was passed in 1937 the amount of old age assistance was set out "to provide each recipient with a reasonable subsistence compatible with decency and health. Such amount shall as nearly approximate $30 a month as circumstances in each case shall warrant." Due to recent increased cost of rent, clothing, food and all other necessities, I recommend that this figure be changed from $30 to $40 per month for I believe that no person can maintain a decent standard of living and health on a lesser amount in these days of extraordinary high costs. With the discontinuance of the stamp plan, the food purchasing value of the old age assistance client's dollar will decrease 33 1-3 per cent.

At the November election, by referendum of the people, the state of Idaho voted to pay old age assistance clients $40 per month. The state of Washington, by a popular vote of the people, did likewise, and Colorado twice, by popular vote with substantial majorities, established the payment at $45 a month. Colorado has 42,000 old age assistance clients while Wyoming has only 3,500.

The one mill county levy, proceeds from which are used to match federal and state funds for welfare purposes, is not sufficient in all counties since the state finds it necessary to pay a part of several of the counties' proportionate share. I recommend that the designation of "one mill levy" be changed in our law to read "shall levy in the amount necessary to meet the counties' proportionate share of welfare expenditures."

Generally speaking, the health of our people is above the average and rapidly the science of medicine is overcoming those diseases peculiar to Wyoming, of which the most important is tick fever. The State Department of Health is working very cooperatively with the federal government in the elimination of venereal diseases and legislation providing for further progress along health lines will be presented to you.

Tuberculosis is rapidly declining in the state, but I am anxious that we devise some means whereby every school child in the state can have a chest X-ray so that early diagnosis of this condition can be made.

UNIVERSITY

Your State University faces perplexing problems. A great many of the teaching personnel have been called into the armed forces. Student enrollment and student fees are down approximately thirty per cent. With the drafting of the eighteen-year-olds very few male students will remain unless they are assigned there under courses prescribed and initiated by the War or Navy Departments. Athletic programs have been disrupted and the same situation with regard to increased costs, especially salaries, confronts the University as confronts the other departments of state government. While the University cannot expect to operate as usual, nevertheless we must maintain the institution on a high standard, maintain the physical plant, and be prepared to take care of any type of training the War Department may assign to the University, and to return to normal functions following the war.

I am pleased to report that the University is making some notable contributions to our state. As one example, I direct your attention to the department of Geology which is assisting in the development of our mineral resources. This department has examined a great many properties and by virtue of their reports some of these properties are now in production. The personnel of the Department of Geology, aside from making available technical services, providing analysis of the various ores for the citizens of our state, maintains a listing of industrial concerns interested in the various ores and minerals found in our state, and makes it possible for the owner of the property or minerals to contact interested commercial outlets.

I should like to urge and suggest a closer cooperation between your state government and the State University and a more practical utilization of specialists and professors in the various departments of the University. Most states have what are known as legislative research bureaus whose function is to assist members of the legislature in the preparation of bills and in analyzing and studying the result of various bills if enacted into law. The University could provide this service to the state government with little or perhaps no cost. Their professors in political economy, in law, in agriculture, and in agronomy and engineering could and would cooperate in making a factual report on all proposed legislation. Such reports, being unbiased and without political involvement, would be of great benefit, I am sure, to our state, and a great help to this body. The suggestion has been made, and I believe it has considerable merit, that our State Planning Board function through the University where it would have the advantage of the technical training and the studies of the professors and instructors.

At the time the University budget was submitted the institution's situation and position was expected to change so substantially before your Ways and Means Committee would have an opportunity to act on the budget that I deemed it best at that time not to attempt any recommendations on appropriations with his lone exception. The University owns and operates five experimental farms and they have requested an appropriation of $61,000.00. I wish to offer the suggestion that for the duration these experimental farms be placed in full production to assist the war effort in the production of food stuffs, and they should, therefore, for the ensuing two years, be self-supporting. This would allow opportunity for these experimental farms to prove their value and to lend justification to their existence.

COURT PROCEDURE AND PROBATE REFORM

A movement has been on foot for a number of years past looking to the clarification and simplification of civil procedure in the courts throughout the country. The initial step was taken in Congress by the enactment in 1934 of a law authorizing the Supreme Court to adopt rules of procedure in the United States District Courts.

Following this lead, similar action has been taken by the legislatures and the courts in seventeen of the states. Through its officials and committees of its leading members, the Bar Association of our state has for several months past investigated the subject and will probably submit a bill for the consideration of this session of the Legislature delegating to the Supreme Court of this state authority to adopt rules of procedure designed to simplify pleadings, speed up the trial of cases, remove technical obstacles so that litigated cases may be tried in the District Courts and disposed of in the Supreme Court upon their merits rather than upon consideration of technical matters of procedure, and substantially reduce the expense to litigants as well as reduce delay in their final disposition.

I recommend legislation designed to further protect the assets of deceased persons and minors by reducing the time now required for the closing of such estates and the distribution of assets. These proposals, like those already suggested relating to civil procedure, are designed to correct evils which most of we laymen, as well as the members of the legal profession, have long known to exist, but the elimination of which has not seemed easy of accomplishment.

WYOMING LIQUOR COMMISSION

At the present time there are four agencies supposedly enforcing the liquor laws of this state—the Federal Alcohol Tax Unit, the county enforcement officers, city enforcement officers, and the Wyoming Liquor Commission through its five inspectors.

On the theory that everybody's business is nobody's business, I recommend to you that the Wyoming Liquor law which reads, "The Wyoming Liquor Commission shall assist local authorities in enforcing the liquor laws" be changed and the responsibility for enforcing the liquor laws be placed solely with local authorities. This recommendation is made to the end that this divided authority will cease, and for the further purpose of economy. Clarification of this situation is long over due. With enforcement in the hands of local officials solely, communities which are dissatisfied with the type of enforcement they are currently receiving will know exactly where the responsibility rests. Savings of $20,000 a year to the state will be made if this suggestion is adopted.

WATERS AND IRRIGATION—THE NORTH PLATTE RIVER SUIT

In 1934 the state of Nebraska instituted an action in the Supreme Court of the United States against the state of Wyoming over the division of the waters of the North Platte river, contending that these waters should be administered strictly upon a priority basis regardless of state lines. The earlier appropriations are in the state of Nebraska and one can readily see that if the theory of Nebraska is substantiated irrigation in Wyoming under this doctrine would practically be abandoned. Your state government has diligently and with considerable ability defended its rights to these waters and I wish at this time to compliment the Wyoming attorneys and engineers in their presentation of Wyoming's case. Colorado is in full accord with Wyoming's testimony. The United States government has intervened. No attempt will be made to give you a resume of the testimony offered in this case. It is sufficient to say that it comprises more than 28,000 pages and the testimony with exhibits exceeds 40,000 pages. Total cost of this suit to our state to date has been $160,000 and it is necessary to ask you for an additional $10,000 to conclude the suit.

In addition to this, the Supreme Court of the United States has ordered that all parties will share proportionately the cost of printing the master's report and the fee allowed to the master by the Supreme Court. This amount cannot be determined until after you adjourn and it is my recommendation that a bill be introduced authorizing the State Auditor to issue a state warrant for Wyoming's proportionate share when so ordered by the Supreme Court of the United States at the conclusion of this litigation.

The evidence in this suit is closed and the briefs have been filed with the special master and it appears that the case will be set for a hearing on January 11 or 12. It is expected that a decision will be forthcoming from the Supreme Court not later than the month of May, 1943. It is said that the magnitude of this case is without precedent in Wyoming.

Realizing that an adverse decision in this case can and will severely affect some fifty thousand citizens of Wyoming, and realizing further the absolute impossibility of a new counsel acquainting itself with the case sufficiently to appear and represent Wyoming in the hearing now being held, I have deemed it necessary to retain for the present at least the counsel that has been handling this case for the past two years.

In some respects the future of agriculture along the North Platte river depends upon the outcome of this case. One project in particular, the Kendrick project, cannot be colonized until this suit is settled, and the project is now ready to receive some four hundred families.

Further than this, our future industrial growth and development depends almost in its entirety upon the proper utilization of the waters of the North Platte and other rivers of our state. The proper utilization of waters and their proper application to our lands, is the most feasible way to get new settlers and increase our population.

It is to be hoped that Wyoming can settle future water disputes with neighboring states by compacts and avoid this costly, seemingly endless, litigation.

ELECTION LAWS

A great deal of confusion exists in the interpretation of Wyoming election laws and we have prepared for your consideration certain amendments looking toward clarification and economy. I should like to direct your attention to the fact that 408 of 638 precincts in the state cast less than 100 votes, 8 precincts cast 10 votes or less, 64 cast less than 20 votes, and 153 precincts cast less than 40 votes. It is my suggestion that in precincts casting less than 100 votes the number of election officials in these precincts be reduced from five to three. The 1941 law, which fails to set out clearly the last registration date, must be clarified, and the time for absentee voting should be extended to fifteen days to allow ample time for such voting.

Each succeeding election seems to find it more difficult to get candidates to file for the House of Representatives, and there are members of this 27th session who had no opposition. Obviously steps should be taken to make membership in this house a greater honor and to attract the very best qualified candidates. It would help materially if the Constitution were amended and the members of the house then elected for a four-year term making it unnecessary that each two years candidates for the lower house go through the time loss and expense of a campaign.

SALARIES OF COUNTY OFFICIALS

Fifty-three years ago the Constitutional Convention froze the salaries of county officials in the Constitution; and strange as it may seem county officials are today receiving salaries set at that time. It is imperative, if we wish to retain qualified county officials, that this body, by resolution, give the people of the state an opportunity to vote on an amendment allowing the Legislature to fix the salaries of county officials as they fix the salaries of state officials.

INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT

My observations indicate that eighteen thousand of our male citizens have been inducted into the armed forces of the United States. Some seven thousand of our citizens have gone into neighboring states and to the west coast and are employed in defense work in these areas. It is expected that an additional seven thousand more will be called to the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps.

Of all the problems to be considered by government in the ensuing year, none perhaps is more important or difficult than the problem of full employment. When the boys come home from the war and the great defense industries begin to close, the country will be face to face with a condition as serious as was the depression and almost as serious as the war itself.

The states and local communities of the nation did little to fight the depression because they were unprepared. They did even less in the war because that was exclusively an all out National problem. Employment, however, and the daily activities of life are carried on in the cities, the counties and the states. When our Wyoming boys return after the victory, they will return to the hills, plains, fields and mines of Wyoming. What there shall be here for them depends upon us and what we do now.

Are we to be ready? Or are we to be unready, awaiting the action of the federal government or the action of great business organizations that even now are thinking of the sort of world we are to have when peace is restored?

The west was built by self-reliant people who knew how to make a living out of the soil. Conditions, it is true, are different now from what they were in the early days, but unless we are willing to confess that we are less self-reliant than our predecessors, it is for us to take steps now to make certain that the people of this state shall be able to work out their own destinies here within the boundaries of a great commonwealth which has been blessed with almost limitless resources.

The natural wealth of Wyoming is as yet unmeasured. Its coal, its oil and gas, its non-ferrous metals, its unexcelled geology, its water, its soil, its natural beauty, its wild life, all present opportunities for men and women of character, ability and vision to build for the future.

Here in Wyoming we still have the great combination of boundless natural resources and of courageous and able people, a combination that gives us our chance to plan for the future. We know, however, that just as it has been necessary for the federal government to plan for the war and for the international phases of the peace that is to follow the war, it is necessary for us to plan for our local and state phases of agriculture, industry and commerce.

Post-war planning is already being undertaken by agencies of the federal government, by great national industries and by some of the states. Wyoming should be among them. Under its sovereign powers as a state, the government of Wyoming can perform the necessary service for our population by preparing for the problem we know is to come. The executive and legislative officers of this state were chosen by the people to administer this state government in the interests of the people and this session of the Legislature offers them the opportunity to begin the organization of Wyoming resources and Wyoming activities in such a manner as to encourage our most complete development. In my judgment, a special joint committee of the Senate and House, together with representatives of agriculture, labor and industry, should be created to work with the State University and with the commercial, agricultural and industrial organizations of the state to plan an effective program of economic preparedness.

In submitting these observations to you gentlemen, I do so with the complete understanding of the fact that you constitute the most important division of our state government. Upon you devolves the right and duty to make the laws. Yours is the legislative function and mine the executive, shared with other state officials whom the people have elected.

The program and suggestions I have laid before you in outline are by no means comprehensive. There are other policies which you will suggest yourself; and their enactment into law, together with those here suggested, lies with your discretion.

May I again assure you that in all legislation that may tend to advance the happiness and prosperity of our people you have my ready and active cooperation.

LESTER C. HUNT,
Gov. of Wyo.

Following the delivery of the Governor's Message the Chair was turned over by Speaker Luman to R. H. Nichols, President of the Senate.

Senator Stirling moved that a vote of thanks be extended to His Excellency, the Governor, for his timely and forceful message, seconded by Representative Oxley. The motion prevailed.

As it may be impossible for me to thank each of you personally for the many favors and kindnesses which you have shown me in the past few weeks, I take this means of expressing to you all my heartfelt gratitude.

The numbers of pages and lines refer for convenience to the printed bill.

Page 5, strike lines 22 to 25 inclusive. Strike all of pages 6, 7, and 8, and all of lines 1 to 22 inclusive on page 9, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"Section 7. C. I. * * * For the year 1943, and each calendar year thereafter, each employer shall pay contributions on all wages payable for employment in accordance with the provisions of this sub-section.

The standard rate of contributions shall be 2.7 per centum, and no employer's rate shall be varried from the standard rate unless and until his account has been chargeable with benefits throughout the 36-month experience period applicable to any year commencing after December 31, 1942, and unless his payrolls during each 12-month period of the 48-consecutive-month period ending on June 30 of the preceding calendar year equaled or exceeded 10 per centum of his highest 12-month payroll in such 48-month period.

II. For the calendar years 1938, 1939, 1940, 1941, and 1942, and for each calendar year thereafter, separate accounts shall be maintained for each employer. Benefits paid to an individual shall be charged to the account of his base period employer; provided, that when an individual has been employed by two or more employers during his base period, such employers' accounts shall be charged an amount which bears the same ratio to the total benefits paid to the individual as the amount of wages payable by such employer bears to the total wages payable by all employers during the individual's base period.

Provided further, however, that all amounts of less than $1.00 shall be disregarded; otherwise all charges shall be computed to the nearest multiple of $1.00.

III. (a) For the purpose of this sub-section, "experience period", with respect to the year 1943, and each calendar year thereafter, means the 36 consecutive months ending on June 30 of the preceding year.

(b) For the purpose of this sub-section, an employer's "benefit ratio" for the year 1943, and each calendar year thereafter, means the quotient obtained by dividing the total benefits chargeable to his account which were paid during the immediately preceding experience period, by the total amount of wages payable by such employer during the same experience period, excluding any portion of such wages with respect to which contributions have not been paid on or before July 31 of the preceding calendar year. Such benefit ratios shall be computed only for those employers whose accounts have been chargeable for benefits paid throughout the 36-month experience period mentioned in Division I.

The computation of benefit ratios shall be extended to six (6) decimal points, beyond which all fractions shall be disregarded.

IV. (a) All employers for whom benefit ratios have been computed as provided for in the preceding divisions of this sub-section shall be grouped into Classes A, B, C, D, E, F and G. "Section 7. C. I. * * * For the year 1943, and each calendar year thereafter, each employer shall pay contributions on all wages payable for employment in accordance with the provisions of this sub-section.

The standard rate of contributions shall be 2.7 per centum, and no employer's rate shall be varied from the standard rate unless and until his account has been chargeable with benefits throughout the 36-month experience period applicable to any year commencing after December 31, 1942, and unless his payrolls during each 12-month period the 48-consecutive-month period ending on June 30 of the preceding calendar year equaled or exceeded 10 per centum of his highest 12-month payroll in such 48-month period.

Report of Standing Committee

The following report from a standing committee was received and read:

Cheyenne, Feb. 20, 1943.

Mr. President:

Your Committee on Enrollment begs leave to report the following entitled Senate File correctly enrolled: S. F. No. 55.

LEELAND U. GRIEVE,

Report of Special Committee

The following report from committee appointed to prepare a report showing the condition of the State Treasurer's Office at the close of business December 31, 1942, was received and read:

February 20, 1943.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives:

Gentlemen:

In compliance with the provisions of Section 701, Chapter 64, Wyoming Revised Statutes, 1931, we, your committee appointed for the purpose, submit herewith a report showing the condition of the State Treasurer's office at the close of business December 31, 1942.

The total amount of cash and securities held in general accounts at the close of business December 31, 1942 was $34,090,287.95, and the total of the cash as trust funds held by the State Treasurer at the close of business December 31, 1942, was $48,709.47, making a total of $34,138,997.42. This is represented by U. S. Government Checks in Office

$3,680,061.08; Bonds and Investments $26,199,661.64; Cash in Banks $4,259,274.70.

The bonded debt of the State of Wyoming as of December 31, 1942 was $2,520,000.00.

Cash, bonds and securities are protected by a burglary and robbery insurance policy, issued by a surety company authorized to do business in the State of Wyoming, in the amount of $4,717,250.00. A messenger insurance policy is also in force, and it carried protection up to $50,000.00. Further protection is also provided in that the night watchman is required to telephone the office of Chief of Police every hour during the night, and if he should fail to do so, an investigation would be started immediately to ascertain the cause.

Collateral security is pledged by each depository bank in an amount sufficient to protect State funds.

At the close of the examination of the State Treasurer's office, all balances shown by the Treasurer's books were verified by balances as shown by the books of the State Auditor.

It was found that the books and records of the Treasurer's office were well kept, and there is every indication that the affairs of the office have been handled very efficiently.

Following their audit further, the Joint Auditing Committee of the Senate and House of the 27th Legislature met in the office of the State Auditor on January 25th.

The following Senate and House members constitute the membership of this committee:

SENATE

E. J. Zoble, Natrona County
Rudolph Anselmi, Sweetwater County

HOUSE

John Riedel, Uinta County
A. E. Hoffman, Platte County
Andrew McMaster, Niobrara County

The following state officials were in attendant:

Mr. Charles B. Morgan, Deputy State Treasurer
Mr. Wm. "Scotty" Jack, State Auditor
Mr. Frank W. Chambers, Deputy State Auditor
Mr. N. E. Hartwell, State Examiner
Mr. James Anselmi, Deputy State Examiner

The meeting was opened with a statement of the general purposes for which the meeting had been called. After a broad and detailed discussion there was a general unanimity of opinion that:

(1) All public revenue should channel through and be deposited in the public treasury.

(2) All public expenditures should channel through and be audited by the auditor's office.

(3) All departmental bank accounts should be abolished and where necessary for the proper functioning of departments and institutions, petty cash or working capital funds should be authorized and set up by legislative action and appropriations.

(4) An interim committee of members of the Senate and House of the 27th Wyoming Legislature and the fiscal officials of the State Government be authorized to make a study of the fiscal policies of the State of Wyoming, investigate the finances of the State, its system of accounting, expenditures, receipts of public moneys, pre-auditing and post-auditing functions with a view to the institution of a modern and effective system of centralized accounting and financial control.

To this end the Joint Auditing Committee instructed the preparation of the necessary bills, and in accordance therewith the following Senate Files were introduced:

No. 84—Disposition of Moneys Collected for State of Wyoming.

No. 85—Disposition of Proceeds Sales Tax.

No. 86—Disposition of Moneys Collected by Wyoming Liquor Commission.

Said Board shall not pay for any such bonds any sum greater than par, plus a premium of not to exceed fifty per cent of the face value on all unearned interest coupons attached to any bond purchased, nor shall said Board pay for any such bonds more than the actual market price thereof at the time of purchasing the same. Notification of Committees Appointed

Senator Thomas moved that a committee of two be appointed to inform the House that the Senate had completed its labors in the Twenty-seventh State Legislature, and was ready to adjourn sine die. The motion prevailed.

President Nichols announced that he would appoint Senators Phifer and Greene to act as such committee.

Senator Thomas moved that a committee of two be appointed to wait upon His Excellency, the Governor, to notify him that the Legislature had concluded its labors, and to ascertain if he had any further communication that he desired to submit to the Legislature before they adjourned sine die. The motion prevailed.

President Nichols announced that he would appoint Senators Pearson and Cross to act as such committee.

The committee appointed to wait upon His Excellency, the Governor, escorted him to the Senate Chamber, where he made the following address:

GOVERNOR'S ADDRESS

Mr. President and Members of the Senate:

I am pleased to have this opportunity to say a few words to this fine body of men. I appreciate, Gentlemen, and Mr. President, the courtesy of your asking me to say a few words to you. I shall not attempt to make a resume of your work, for time will decide the quality of the work, and the benefits that the State will derive from it.

I want to compliment you on many points. First, I want to compliment you on the leadership of this body, and I refer, of course, to your Honorable President, and I refer also to the majority and the minority floor leaders. I can say in all seriousness, and nobody can dispute the statement, that never in the history of Wyoming has this body had more able leadership, and I say that sincerely.

I should like also to compliment you on the fact that I know you have been working under pressure. I know that you all have left your vocations and that it has been to your disadvantage to spend these forty days working in behalf of your State Government, and there has been a very serious note throughout your deliberations. That, of course, is due to the war situation and to the conditions prevailing in the United States today as well as in the State of Wyoming. And I want also to compliment you upon the thoroughness of your efforts, and I do appreciate that effort. I don't believe Mr. President, that you have sent to my desk a single controversial matter. I thank you gentlemen for taking care of those things in this body.

In closing my few brief remarks I want to congratulate you on what should I say, the correctness of the measures that you have sent to my office, for I don't believe that in the history of any session the Governor has found it necessary to veto as few measures that reached his desk as have I, and at this time I know of no additional vetoes that will be forthcoming, which speaks well for the deliberations of this body.

I hope that you will all feel throughout the ensuing two years that you are just as much a part of this State Government as the five executive officers who will remain here during your absence, and I believe that if at any time you feel that you should call our attention to certain matters you will do just that. I hope that we who remain here will administer the laws which you leave with us in the manner that you intended they should be administered. And I most sincerely hope, friends, that before we meet again this terrible war in which we are now engaged will have come to an end, and that when this, the greatest deliberative body of the State of Wyoming does convene again we perhaps can be a little more carefree and enjoy our work a little more than we have been able to this year.

I wish you all happiness and pleasure in the ensuing two years, Mr. President. I wish for you all a safe journey home, and if at any time my office can be of service to your communities or to you gentlemen individually in any way, I trust you will command me.

I thank you, Mr. President.
