Board approves State Library budget cuts

When the State Library, Archives, Museums, and Historical Board members met in Cheyenne recently, they approved the proposed budget for the next biennium.

The budget is 14.29 percent less than what was appropriated for the current biennium.

A 6.29 percent reduction was made at the end of Gov. Herschler's term and another one percent reduction was made by Gov. Sullivan when he took office. He has since asked for another seven percent for the next biennium.

In discussing the upcoming budget Johnson said, "Luckily we didn't have to cut a program and we will have to if there are any further cuts. Each program we offer has a special clientele or it would have ceased to exist and when we start cutting those programs we are bound to have some unhappy librarians."

Cuts were made in the areas of equipment repair, telephone and postage, dues and memberships, in-state travel, printing and the book budget.

Johnson also noted the State Library has three fewer full time positions this biennium. That means the agency is experiencing a 10 percent cut instead of the five percent requested by the governor.

Wayne Johnson also said the Library returned $7.5 million which had been appropriated for a new building along with $400,000 for architects' fees.

Library Services and Construction Act grants to public libraries will be continued. Johnson requested that the Board restore the Title I funds of $46,000 to the budget although he had been considering eliminating them.

In related action the SLAMH board moved that $20,000 be set aside to augment county library systems' book budgets. These funds would be distributed in amounts according to the board's discretion.

The Board also approved a motion to recommend to the State Library Advisory Council that the grant priorities be reconsidered in light of the economic hardships the state is experiencing and the priorities move toward providing services to the consumers.

Board members also approved the concept of providing American Library Association accredited courses in Wyoming. Corky Walters will provide a timetable at the next meeting for their consideration.

WSL circulation goes online

On September 1 the State Library began circulating all of its materials on the automated circulation system.

For several months the large print book collection had been circulating via the system and other components have been in use. Electronic mail and interlibrary loan have been handled through the system previously.

The State Library joined Platte County, Laramie County, Laramie County Community College and Casper College libraries for online circulation.

Around the State

The Laramie County Community College Library has some materials to give any library that can use them. Recipient library must agree to pay postage or shipping costs. Materials are: National Union Catalog 1958-61; 1963-66; 1968-71; 1972-82; Cumulative Index to Nursing and Allied Health 1979-86; Applied Science and Technology Index 1958-1977; New York Times Index 1973-79.

Several personnel changes have occurred at LCCC. Mary Pfefferle is the new reference library technician. Mary has been at the library since 1980, most recently in charge of acquisitions.

Linda Hollingsworth is the new library technician for serials and inter-library loan. Linda has been at the library on a temporary, part-time basis for the past year. She previously worked at the Wyoming State Library and the Laramie County Library.

Kathy Darcy resigned from the LCCC staff in July. She accepted a position as librarian at Donnelly College in Kansas City, Kan.

William C. Edwards, biology instructor at LCCC, has prepared a slide program featuring selected species of wildlife with captions and background information. The 50 wildlife slides are aimed at the elementary school level and maybe be expanded to the junior and senior high level. Edwards produced the program through a grant from the Wyoming State Department of Education. For more information contact Edwards at LCCC, 1400 E. College Dr., Cheyenne, WY 82007.

Carol White from the University of Wyoming was named to the OCLC Cataloging Advisory Commission for a three-year term beginning in August. She is representing the Bibliographic Center for Research.

The Wyoming Council for the Humanities recently awarded several grants one of which involved libraries. The University of Wyoming American Studies Department received $1,500 to hold programs in 12 libraries around the state to introduce and analyze folk art.

"Getting Thru the Maze: Drug Classification for Librarians" is the topic of a pre-conference workshop. The session is scheduled in Gillette at the Campbell County Memorial Hospital on Oct. 7 from 1-5 p.m. Linda Gore Sutherland, coordinator of the Drug Information Center,

School of Pharmacy at the University of Wyoming is the presenter. Before the workshop a meeting has been scheduled to discuss whether the Health Sciences Information Network consortia should become a section of WLA. For more information or to register for the workshop contact HSIN, Box 3262 University Station, Laramie, WY 82071. There is a $5 charge for the workshop and the lunch is no-host.

An interdisciplinary conference titled "Educating the Class of 2000" will be held at Cheyenne's East High Oct. 2-3. Wyoming Educational Media Assoc. is one of the co-sponsors. For more information write InterCon '87, Wyoming Department of Education, 241 Hathaway Bldg., Cheyenne, WY 82002.

Susan Haley, audiovisual librarian at Natrona County, retired at the end of August. She started at the library in 1969 and served as page, librarian assistant and resource specialist. She will also be remembered as a display artist, puppeteer, singer, dancer, hostess and all-around performer.

NCPL volunteers were honored at a special luncheon. Certificates were awarded to more than 30 people and Pat Forsling received a special pin for 500 or more hours of service.

Park County Library
Director Charlene Stearns married James E. Paben on July 11.

Six patron-volunteers began working in the PCL to pick up the slack for the seven employees who were layed off. Nearly 50 people responded to the call for help and library personnel will be contacting them.

Sheridan County Fulmer Public Library hosted the 8th annual Sheridan Renaissance Faire on Sept. 13 from noon to 6 p.m. in Kendrick Park. A special feature this year was a contest to create a Renaissance costume for a doll. Food, crafts, entertainment and games were also available.

There are four new reference staff members at Campbell County Library. Candi Varvaro and Susan Newland have each accepted a position as a 19 hour per week reference assistant. Will Whitmore and J.D. Gale are the new pages.

The Government Publications
Division at the State Library completed a major project to label all the serials sets and hardbound volumes with call numbers. Sidney Thomas spent her summer assigned to the project. Sidney returned to school as a sophomore at UW majoring in social work.

Jerry Krois, WSL library development officer, reports that he has a file of reading programs created by other states which might save time planning school library displays and reading themes or to prepare for the 1988 summer reading programs.

The packets are designed by various state libraries to provide librarians involved in reading programs with planning materials, bibliographic resources on that theme and visual materials to accompany the program.

Contact Jerry if you are interested.

Kathy Karpan, Secretary of State, will be the speaker at the WLA luncheon on Thursday, Oct. 8. Cost for the meal is $6.85 and there is still time to make reservations with Bess Sheller, Carbon County Library.

Campbell County Library has arranged shuttle bus service during WLA. The schedule will be printed in the program. Shuttles will be available to take participants to pre-conference programs at the Campbell County Hospital and the high school as well as the library.

Saratoga's only bed and breakfast inn is the subject of a new book by Gay Day Alcorn. Historic Hood House is about the 12 families that lived in this Victorian home. Cost is $5.95 plus $1.50 for postage and handling. Orders should be sent to Historic Hood House, Box 429, Saratoga, WY 82331.

A $250,000 grant from the state Farm Loan Board was made to construct a new Johnson County Library. The grant, made in July, will be used along with an allocation from the county budget, the optional one percent sales tax, the library's own building fund and LSCA money awarded last fiscal year. The total falls short of the library's goal but Barbara Fraley, director, said the remainder might be raised from local sources.

The Library of Congress (LC) Engagement Calendar, 4th edition, will soon be available. The calendar is 7" x 9", 128 pages, Wire-O bound, and will cost $10 each or $5 for six copies or more.

Interested individuals should contact Galison Books, 25 West 43rd Street, New York, NY 10036, 212/354-8840.

Harold Russell Associates, Inc., recently announced the release of two publications on disabilities.

The 1986 Directory of National Information Sources on Handicapping Conditions and Related Services is a compilation of 398 information providers and service organizations concerning persons with disabilities. Cost for this publication is $25.

And, The Planner's Guide to Barrier Free Meetings is a guide with advice on planning activities, site survey checklist, recommendations solving site problems, registration forms, tips on assisting disabled people, and a listing of equipment sources. Cost for this publication is $14.95.

For further information, or ordering, contact Harold Russell Associates, Inc., 8 Winchester Place, Suite 304, Winchester, MA 01890, 617/729-9090.

The Reader, by New York artist Will Barnett and designed by John Michael, is the title for LC's Center for the Book's new poster.

Cost for the poster is $8.95, plus $2 for postage and handling. Orders should be addressed to Box A, Information Office, LC, Washington, DC 20540.

A recent publication by the District of Columbia Public Library titled Planning the Celebration of Deaf Heritage Week, a guide for public libraries may now be loaned through the State Library.

Deaf Heritage Week is December 6-12, 1987. Librarians interested in reviewing the booklet should contact Jerry Krois, library development officer, Wyoming State Library, 307/777-7281.

??? If this persists, see your librarian - part of any solution is the message used on ABC-CLIO's bumper sticker.

Librarians may receive one or any reasonable quantity of the free bumper stickers by calling ABC-CLIO's toll-free number, 1/800/422-2546.

The American Library Association (ALA) awards program makes it possible for libraries to nominate librarians or libraries for creative, innovative and well organized projects of library development, research or other nature. This recognition is in the form of cash, scholarships and research grants.

One such award is the Gale Research Company Financial Development Award.

The award ($2,500) will be offered to any public or academic library that has achieved success in obtaining new funding resources for library development.

For additional information, contact members of the awards committee: Molly Raphael, District of Columbia Public Library; Carol Turner, University of Florida Library; Ronald Powell, University of Missouri School of Library and Information Science; Janet Welch, Rochester Regional Council; Sylvia Faibisoff, University of Oklahoma School of Library and Information Studies; and Elaine Wingate, ALA staff liaison Awards Committee.

The Best Gift You'll Ever Give Your Child . . . A Library Card is the theme for a national library card campaign.

The campaign will begin in early October and is focused towards parents with young children, in hopes to stop illiteracy before it starts.

A national contest for grades K-8 will consist of children telling, in 100 words or less, "Why I love my library card (or library, if there is no card)."

Additionally, the theme for National Library Week, April 17-23, 1988, is The Card With a Charge . . . Use Your Library. The theme was chosen to enhance the library card campaign.

For information on promotional items on these two upcoming events and contest rules, contact ALA Public Information Office, 50 E. Huron St., Chicago, IL 60611, 312/944-6780.

600 VCR's will be given away to eligible Carnegie libraries. Libraries who apply must agree to match the gift with a television monitor or with $300 in educational/special interest video.

The VCR Gift Program is part of the ALA-Carnegie Video Project and applications should be received from Sally Mason, project coordinator, ALA.

ALA's 106th Annual Conference, held in San Francisco, June 27-July 2, attracted a record 17,206 attendees, surpassing the previous record of 16,530 set in New York in 1986. The association hosted 2,400 meetings in 14 sites and 1,068 exhibits at the Moscone Convention Center.

At the close of the conference, Margaret Chisholm, director of the University of Washington Graduate School of Library and Information Science, was inaugurated as the association's 104th president. At the inaugural banquet, Chisholm spoke on "Visionary Leaders for 2020: Developing Leadership in Human Resources for Library and Information Science."

Full-color 1988 wall calendars and posters commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Caldecott Medal are available from ALA's Public Information Office.

The 22" x 34" poster ($6) and wall calendar ($8.95) celebrate the medal's anniversary with illustrations selected from 50 years of medal-winning and honor books in colors true to the original art.

Both the poster and calendar are available from the ALA Public Information Office, 50 E. Huron St., Chicago, IL 60611, 312/944-6780.

Additionally, commemorative totebags ($10) and buttons ($1 each) are available from ALA's Association for Library Service to Children. Both items may be purchased from the Association for Library Service to Children, ALA.

The Caldecott Medal for excellence in illustration of children's books has been awarded annually since 1938 by ALA's Association for Library Service to Children.

Elizabeth Futas, director and professor at the Graduate School of Library and Information Studies, University of Rhode Island, has been appointed editor-elect of RQ, the official journal of ALA's Reference and Adult Services Division.

Futas has been at the University of Rhode Island since 1986. Futas has a master's degree in librarianship from the University of Minnesota and earned a Ph.D. in information studies from Rutgers University.

The International Relations Committee of ALA is now accepting applications for the Bogle International Library Travel Fund award for 1988.

Applicants for the $300 award must be members of ALA and be planning to attend an international conference for the first time, either in the US or abroad.

Deadline is December 1, 1987, and application forms may be obtained from Robert P. Doyle, IRC staff liaison, ALA, 50 E. Huron St., Chicago, IL 60611.

Special Library Association's (SLA) Conference Program Committee has issued a Call for Papers for the association's 1988 annual conference. The conference will be held in Denver, CO, June 11-16, 1988.

The committee is soliciting papers related to the conference theme: "Expanding Horizons: Strategies for Information Managers" Individuals interested in submitting a paper must supply the committee with a 250-500 word abstract by Oct. 2, 1987. Notification of acceptance will be issued by the committee by Nov. 15.

For additional information, contact Marilyn Stark, Conference Program Committee, c/o Arthur Lakes Library, Colorado School of Mines, Golden, CO 80401.
